

APPLE AMBITION

Posted on 13/11/2015 by Naider

Apple's ambition seems to have no limits, the American company meditates create a payment platform that rivals PayPal. The idea of the "big apple" is none other than enabling its customers to transfer funds from one iphone account to another.

Those responsible for Apple thus take another step in their quest to monopolize the demand for the needs of their users due to the exclusivity that their products generate (by not being able to use products from other companies) at the same time that expand their services.

Apparently the US firm has already held talks with entities such as JP Morgan Chase, Capital One, Wells Fargo and U.S. Bancorp to talk about this service and start with its financing plans, finally, and according to the newspaper The Wall Street Journal , this new platform could be available by early 2016.

There are no comments yet.