

APPLE EVOLVES

Posted on 05/10/2015 by Naider

We don't know whether to be surprised or scared, both at the same time perhaps it would not be bad, the truth is that the new hands-free of the iphone 6 will be able to listen to our conversations, regardless of whether we are using the mobile device or not, to anticipate our needs. This new omnipresence of technology is just one more example of how fast technology advances these days.

The tool, called "Siri", has been active on mobile phones for a few years but the truth is that its usefulness has always been questioned, yes, the new improvement promises to give a radical change in terms of its usefulness. that it will not only be able to anticipate our movements by searching the internet for something even before we order it, for example, it will also be able to modify the intensity of the light at home just by asking it or activate and deactivate the security alarm of home.

There are no comments yet.