

CALCULATING COSTS

Posted on 20/08/2015 by Naider

Do you have a business idea and don't know where to establish it? Many are the entrepreneurs who, due to the difficulty involved, do not know where to establish their new businesses or which would be, initially, more beneficial for them. For this reason, ICEX has released a new tool that promises to be very valuable for those who find themselves in this situation.

Thanks to the aforementioned "platform" entrepreneurs will be able to simulate the approximate costs that a new business opening could have in different countries and thus be able to compare and decide the most suitable one for their businesses.

This option that makes possible the ICEX takes the name setup cost simulator and gives an immediate response once once the entrepreneur has filled in certain mandatory fields.

There are no comments yet.