

LET'S CHANGE THE CHANGE

Posted on 30/07/2015 by Naider

It seems that, fortunately, awareness of climate change is taking hold, step by step, in the world population. Whether in Asia or America, the problem with the environment occupies the minds of the majority of the population until it has become the problem that most worries people worldwide, according to the recent study from Pew Research Center.

Problems such as terrorism or the economic situation are being left behind despite the fact that not in all the countries observed, climate change occupies the first place.

From naider we are glad that there are more and more people aware of this issue and we only hope that this concern becomes an occupation sooner rather than later.

There are no comments yet.