

#NAIDERCOP21 (FIRST DAY): STARTING GUN

Posted on 30/11/2015 by Naider

FIRST DAY OF COP21.

Today begins, in Paris, the twenty-first Conference of the Parties (COP21, for the acronym of its English name "Conference Of the Parties") of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC, "United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change). As we have been showing in recent days, this international event is the result of 21 years of efforts to obtain an agreement to combat climate change. to the current and failed Kyoto Protocol when it comes to an end in 2020.

The challenge we face is unprecedented. The expectations are high, and the objective ambitious: to keep the global temperature increase below 2°C above the pre-industrial reference level. But the stakes are also colossal: a binding and ambitious agreement would mark the beginning of the end for the use of fossil fuels as our primary source of energy. The outcome of this summit will, in any case, have global consequences for many decades.

And Naider is in Paris, at the COP, as an eyewitness to this historic event.

There are no comments yet.