

#NAIDERCOP21: FOOD FOR THOUGHT, 10 TED TALKS ON CLIMATE CHANGE

Posted on 29/11/2015 by Naider

With COP21 less than two weeks away, at Naider we are already warming up and preparing for the event. Today, we'd like to share with you a TED Playlist with ten talks covering different aspects of this phenomenon. The list includes the following exhibits:

- Mary Robinson: Why climate change is a threat to humans
- Al Gore: New Thoughts on the Climate Crisis
- James Hansen: Why I should talk about climate change
- Rachel Pike: The science behind the weather headlines
- James Balog: Time-lapse evidence of ice loss from glaciers
- Nicholas Stern: The state of the climate - and what we can do about it
- David Keith: A critical look at geoengineering as a tool to fight climate change
- Jill Soule: The Climate Change Song, "Manhattan in January"
- John Doerr: Salvation (and profit) in green technology
- Vicky Arroyo: Let's prepare for our new climate

There are no comments yet.