

#NAIDERCOP21 (FOURTH DAY): GREENTECH SHARES RISE

Posted on 03/12/2015 by Naider

Fourth day of COP21.

Following a new report from Goldman Sachs (announced at COP21) favorable to low-carbon technologies (renewable energy, hybrid cars...), the stock market is on the rise for various technology companies developing clean and efficient technologies, including Tesla Motors Inc, which has experienced a 3% rise in its stock price. Positive trends such as this may have effects that reinforce market confidence in the climate agreements under negotiation.

There are no comments yet.