Solac, a Basque classic of small electrical appliances, especially irons and coffee makers, has been bought by the Catalan manufacturer Taurus. In this way, Solac, belonging to the Cegasa group, has found a way out that makes its continuity clear.

As reported by Taurus, Solac will strengthen its own personality, characterized by its innovations, among which the launch of the first espresso coffee maker with a boiler or the first compact ironing center on the market stands out and take advantage of the synergies with the Taurus group made up of 17 brands and a commercial presence in 80 countries.
