

AN OUTDATED RITUAL ACCOMPANIES THE TANKS THROUGH THE STREETS OF MADRID

Posted on 12/10/2011 by Naider

The least attractive face of Spain displays its power today through the streets of Madrid. The live broadcast by RTVE of the military parade makes your hair stand on end. It is the song to war in the middle of the era of Peace! Or is it the swan song that is heard? Fortunately most of the people have gone to the beach on this radiant day.

The militants in secularism and peace will go to our work on this day of the Virgin of El Pilar. While we encourage that never again is an army representing the people of any country. That it be the children of the schools, the workers of the NGOs, the cultural leaders, the entrepreneurs, the health personnel, the university world, the researchers, the volunteers, the journalists, the creatives, the musicians or the teachers who occupy the central arteries of our cities on behalf of society.

There are no comments yet.