

INVASION OF THE RED COBBLESTONE

Posted on 03/05/2011 by Naider

Are all these really necessary? red cobblestones that invade our streets? How much do they cost us? Is now the best time to spend public money on paving stones? Is this how we solve the 5 million unemployed?

In some places they are changing the cobblestones of one color for those of another. On the eve of elections, politicians thus try to capture the most unsuspecting voter. Less paving stones and more investment in the future.

Images: the invasion of the red cobblestone comes to my neighborhood.

There are no comments yet.