

THE WORLD WANTS TO CHANGE

Posted on 15/10/2011 by Naider

Citizens of 1,000 cities in everyone showed in the street their desire to build the world in which we live in a different way and to demand a transformation of the political elites of their respective countries so that they freely serve their people and never again be vassays of the economic, financial, military or of any other order.

"United with one voice we will let the politicians and financial elites they serve know that it is now we, the people, who will decide our future," the joint manifesto stated.

Images from the global protest at The Guardian

There are no comments yet.