

THE DONUT ECONOMY

Posted on 20/04/2020 by Naider

British economist Kate Raworth (Oxford Environmental Institute) has proposed an alternative approach to the idea of impossibly infinite growth that has prevailed since the 20th century: the Donut Economy. In the Donut Economy, the challenge is to figure out how to meet the needs of all people—from food and housing to access to health or political participation—without exceeding the environmental limits of the planet.

The following video series explains what this paradigm consists of:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Mkg2XMTWV4g>

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=V2vN_fu-wns

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SOKHWOMVMyo>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mNUMkPltnnE>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=FqnFa0POTpM>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=XcgcMpgbNHA>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5zkqGEaztRM>

There are no comments yet.