Edurne Astaburuaga (Gasteiz, 1998), a graduate in Sociology from the University of the Basque Country and Master's Degree in Urban and Territorial Planning from the Polytechnic University of Madrid, has experience as a social researcher and urban and territorial planning consultant. She has developed projects, mainly with public administrations and European funds, related to diversity and social inclusion, promotion of the autonomy of the elderly in cities, energy poverty and social innovation. She has also organised and led discussion groups in the framework of different projects.

Edurne joins the Naider team as an urban sociologist, in order to reinforce the socio-economic analysis and urban planning projects.

The incorporation has taken place within the framework of Lanbide - Basque Employment Service's Lehen Aukera programme. Ongi etorri, Edurne!
