Our colleague Sara Soloaga participated as a speaker in the 1st Conference on the Evolution of the University towards Living Lab Infrastructures, an opportunity to share NAIDER's experience in the implementation and development of Living Labs. The conference, organised by the Escuela Superior de Ciencias Experimentales y Tecnología of the University Rey Juan Carlos, was attended by professionals involved in different types of Living Labs, both from the business world and from different universities.

Naider is co-leading the implementation of Living Labs in coastal cities in the European SCORE project, of which we are a partner. On the occasion of our participation in the 10th Sustainable Cities and Towns Conference, which we attended on behalf of SCORE, we were able to connect live to the conference from Aalborg, Denmark.
