On 31 October, more than 20 professionals took part in the second working session of the Community of Practice on the Social Dissemination of Knowledge, promoted by the Basque Government's Department of Science, Universities and Innovation.

The session, held at the University of Deusto's San Sebastián campus, brought together communication and outreach professionals from organisations that are part of the Basque Network of Science, Technology and Innovation.

The Department of Science, Universities and Innovation relies on the technical assistance of NAIDER for the development and facilitation of this Community of Practice, conceived as a space for exchanging experiences, generating practical learning, and strengthening collaboration among the actors of the Basque R&D&I ecosystem.

During the session, participants shared insights and experiences and reflected on some of the key challenges faced in the daily practice of science communication.
