On February 10, we attended the Ihobe 2023 Supplier Entities Forum, where we had the opportunity to learn first-hand about the strategic lines of the public company for this year. We have been working on several of them, such as local sustainability or climate action, for some time now for Ihobe, the Basque Government's Public Company for Environmental Management, a reference entity in the field of sustainability and a strategic client for Naider, with whom we hope to continue collaborating to contribute to the environmental improvement of our surroundings.
