The winter publication of NAIDER is now available to read. Under the title “The transition allows no delays”, it brings together analyses and reflections on the economy, innovation, public action and new ways of reading the territory, alongside concrete experiences that show how strategies become projects when they are brought down to the ground. This is complemented by a review of the projects and initiatives developed by NAIDER over the past year.

In addition, we discuss the challenges of local development in a context of multiple transitions with Fernando Nebreda, Director General of Oarsoaldea and President of Garapen.
