

NEW YORK WILL USE CITY'S FOOD SYSTEM TO CREATE JOBS, IMPROVE PUBLIC HEALTH AND PROTECT THE ENVIRONMENT

Posted on 15/12/2009 by Naider

New York City Council has recently launched the initiative "FoodWorks New York" which seeks to produce a Plan to use New York City's food system to create jobs, improve public health and protect the environment. More specific objectives of this Plan will include (1) Improve the city's food infrastructure, (2) Create new and better jobs in the food industry, (3) Keep more local food dollars in the local economy, (4) Reduce diet related diseases like obesity, heart disease and diabetes and (5) Reduce environmental damage from the production, transport, and consumption of food.

You can have more info about that at the New York City Council website and the following video presentation:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?feature=player_embedded&v=TGLYBiatNb0

There are no comments yet.